THE EVENING CRITIC. ENTABLISHED AUGUST, 1808

Emma Abbott.

One of the grandest tributes to an operatic artist was tendered "honest little Emma" last night by the magnificent and refined audience which congregated to witness the rendition of the new and exquisite opera of "The Two Cavaliers." The entire troupe was represented, and the opera passed off as a complete success. The music is by Usigleo, and the opera has long been a success in Italy. It was adapted for the American stage by Mr. William Castle, and really largely improved in the adaptation. There is no doubt but that it will soon take place side by side with "Paul and Virginia" in popularity. Owing to the unavoidable necessity of rehearsing this opera the usual Wednesday matinee was postponed until to-day, Thursday, when, at 2 o'clock p. m., "The Bohemian Girl" will be given.

The "Tourists." Emma Abbott.

The "Tourists." The "Tourists."

At both the matinee and night performances of yesterday "The Tourists" attracted flue andiences, and t' se who see this excellent play once are apt to go a second time. The company harmonizes perfectly, and all of the artists are first-class. The selections from "Mignon," "Olivette," "Trovatore" and other operas are produced with perfect effect. The second matinee of the week will be given on Saturday at 2 p. m.

The Great Hermann.

The Great Hermann.

The only Hermann and his European Specialty Company will be the attraction at the National Theatre the ensuing week. Hermann, who has no equal in this country as a prestidigitateur, does the most astonishing tricks with case and nonchalance, displaying a perfect disdain for natural laws and defying detection. Hermann holds an audience as much by his witty and humorous talk as by his magic. This season the entertainment will be entirely new, the prestidigitateur being assisted by Mile. Addie and Kalsnoshin, the Japanese juggler. The Theatre Comique, as usual, presents its bright effervescent.

The examination of Mr. Stephen Chester was continued before the examiner in the Christiancy divorce suit yesterday afternoon. He testified to Mr. George E. Haight stating that he met Mrs. Christiancy on the steamer Colon two days after the boat left New York for Aspinwall; also to Haight exhibiting Mrs. Christiancy's photograph in Lima publicly, and telling of the intimacy existing between them. The crossexamination was confined to where the witness had resided and by whom he had been employed.

ness had resided and by whom he had been employed.

The next witness called was Dennis Bland, the colored hackman. At the time the man was called Mrs. Christianey was comfortably seated in a rocking chair, apparently in a most excellent humor with her counsel, with whom she was conversing. As Bland entered by the side-door, Mrs. Christianey glanced up, gave him one look, saw who was coming, bounced out of the chair and shot with remarkable haste into an adjoining room, opposite from the direction from which Bland came. The lady's quick departure attracted attention, and at first could not be understood, but when it was recollected that the hackman was in the room, considerable method could be seen in getting out of the room as exwhen it was recollected that the hackman was in the room, considerable method could be seen in getting out of the room as expeditiously as possible. The examination of Bland proceeded. He testified that he had seen Miss Mary Chamberlaine; did not know the party, and she was not the lady that he took in his carriage to the St. James Hotel on Christmas Day, 1879. The counsel for the ex-Senator requested that Mrs. Christiancy be brought into the room to confront the witness and see whether or not he could identify her as the party he carried to the hotel on that occasion.

Capt. Cole declined to introduce his client, and maintained that the other side were not entitled to the evidence, and it was inadmissable now. It should properly have been brought out in the direct examination of the witness. He had been examined, cross-examined, and discharged. Now he was recalled and the effort made to work in testimony that should have been presented in chief.

The counsel for the plaintiff, insisting that they were entitled to have the defendant face the witness, and the counsel on the other side declining to concede that such was the case, the examiner certified the matter to the Equity Court for a decision.

Organization of a Hoosier Social Club.

The Indianians resident in Washington made arrangements last night for a series of social meetings during the winter months that promise to be most enjoyable ones. The prime movers in the matter were Mrs. Col. Burke, Mrs. Col. Fitzgerald, Mrs. H. C. Craft and Mrs. Du Four. The preliminary meeting was held last night at the residence of Col. Fitzgerald on K street. There were present Gen. C. C. Crittenden, Col. L. L. Burke and wife, Judge Hayden and wife, Major Brown, Major Allen and wife, H. C. Craft, wife, daughter and son; Mr. Henry, W. W. Cowing and wife, Major Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Du Four, Miss Hinda Burke, Miss Myla Charles, Mrs. Emily Hawthorne Charles, W. W. Coffin, Miss Pippin, Miss Pauline Pippin, Col. Meacham, Miss Heaton, Miss Finney, Frank Heaton, Miss Hattic Craft, Harry Craft, Charles H. Dickson and E. M. Hardy. It was decided that a meeting be held on the first Wednesday in each month, the place of meeting to be announced in the public press. Some of the gentlemen favored literary exercises, but the ladies objected. The programme at each meeting will include conversation, music, dancing and refreshments.

The Fire Board.

The regular monthly meeting of the Fire Board was held last night, Mr. Collins in the chair. Col. Tait took his seat as Fire Commissioner. The report of fires during October was read, and the following promotions recommended by Chief Cronin: D. F. Craven, to the position of foreman of truck A; Thomas W. Scott, fillerman of truck A; Thomas W. Scott, fillerman of truck A; Thomas W. Scott, fillerman of No. 2, and Hugh J. Meyers, fireman of No. 4. Superintendent Miles, of the Fire Alarm Pelegraph Service, read a report upon a cheap and practical plan for insulating and protecting wires under the pavements. The attention of the District Commissioners was called to the fact that the proprietors of the Portland flats, on Fourteenth street, had disregarded the order to creet fire escapes. Applications for positions in the department were received from Joseph F. Kelly, Peter Riley, Henry F. Steele, Edward A. Fitzgerald, John Dice, and U. S. Wilkenson.

At the Navy-Yard.

The Fish Commission steamer Lookout arrived at the Navy-yard this morning, from Baltimore. The Tallapoosa left yesterday for a cruise on the Atlantic coast. Orders have been given for the Enterprise to be ready for sea by the 15th of December. Commander Graham will command her. She goes to the South Atlantic station.

Temperance Meeting at Foundry Church. Church.

A largely-attended meeting was held in the evening at the vestry-room of Foundry Church. Among the ladies present was Mrs. Judge Thompson, of Hillsbore, Ohio, the first crusader, who occupied a seat upon the platform. Mrs. Clara L. Roach, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the District of Columbia, presided. Upon the platform were also scated Mrs. Carhart, Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Tilton, and Mrs. Dr. Runion. After singing the hymn "Rock of Ages, Cleft for Me," Mrs. Dr. Runion, of Ohio, led 'in prayer, offering a a fervent appeal for Divine assistance in their counsels. Mrs. Cleveland, president of the Dakota Union, then read a short passage from the Scriptures. Mrs. Carhart, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Lowa, who is an active worker among prisoners, was introduced as the first speaker, and stated some interesting facts concerning the broad field open for work in that direction for Christian women. She compared the work of the temperance workers to the trial of Pete's faith by the

the first speaker, and stated some interesting facts concerning the broad field open for work in that direction for Christian women. She compared the work of the temperance workers to the trial of Peter's faith by the Saviour, and said this work had not been songht, but came to them. Her romarks received close attention throughout. Mrs. Thompson was next introduced by the chair, who, in doing so, reverently allude to the lady's silver-white hair, and said that the venerable old lady might not be many years longer with her co-workers. Mrs. Thompson, whose energetic manner of speech and gesture contrasts strongly with her aged appearance, good-humoredly contradicted that statement by saying that her sister was perhaps mistaken, as she gave several instances of the effective results of the prayers and work done in the cause by her, and said that instead of growing weary she was constantly feeling younger. Her remarks frequently elicited laughter and applause, especially when she gave a humorous account of how they, at the beginning of the crusade at Hillsboro, had converted a saloon-keeper, bought him out, and tried to make a bonfire of his whisky, but it was too mean stuff to burn, and they had to put coal-oil into it to start the bonfire. She closed with a strong appeal to all young ladies present to join in the work. Mrs. Roach then addressed the audience, touchingly referring to instances that had but very recently come to her knowledge of suffering and heartache caused to loving wives and mothers by the dissipation of their husbands and sons, saying that she had lost one son, who was now in Heaven, but that she would rather know the remaining one was also in the grave than as a drunkard on earth. A number of ladies present signed the pledge of membership before the close of the meeting.

Missionary Committee of the Methodist proposed the meeting.

Missionary Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The general missionary committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church met in New York yesterday to make appropriations for all the missions of the church for 1882. Bishop W. L. Harris presided and J. M. Reid was chosen secretary. The committee on foreign missions recommended that the total appropriations for the missions should be $313,332. The treasurer also submitted his report, showing that there was an increase of total receipts for the past year over that of the previous year of $68,392.75. The total disbursements for the year were $730,086.53 and receipts $625,664.89, leaving the treasury indebted to the amount of $104,422.64. The bishops adopted a programme for episcopal jurisdiction and the holding of winter and spring conferences for 1882, in which the following assignments are made: For Baltimore, March 8, Bishop Hurst; Gainesville, Fla., January 15, Bishop Peck; Moxico, February 2, Bishop Andrews; Aberdeen, Miss., January 18, Bishop Peck; Laurinburgh, N. The Races Yesterday.

The races run yesterday were very fine as far as exertion of speed went, but as to time they were not a success. The track was too deep; no horse can lift its fetlock out of nine inches of mud at each lope and do justice to its record or its pedigree. This was evidenced by the fact on the books that the best mile dash was made by Blue Lodge and the time 1:57, which is a little better than scrib time.

The Delegation Business. Washington correspondent of the

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says:

President Arthur, who in all probability is thoroughly conversant with the devious ways of politicians and their methods of working up apparent public sentiment, has been considering, in the matter of receiving applications for appointment to office, the propriety of breaking up the unmixed evil of the "delegation" business. This custom of "delegation" waiting on the President in the interest of rival aspirants for office first attained to considerable proportions in the time of Gen. Grant, and has since steadily increased and grown until it has become an almost insufferable nuisance. Gen. Grant, with his remarkable imperturbability, stood it very well, although he said just before he went out of office that if he was to remain he would have no more of it. Mr. Hayes, who let nothing else worry him, used to express his disgust every time after he had given andience to an office-seeking delegation, and the interest wearings and leathing which Gen. an office-seeking delegation, and the in-tense weariness and loathing which Gen Garfield exhibited during his brief experi The hair is dressed close, flat, and with very little fluffiness.
